Please share one or more takeaways from to today's session

We can do something to change our class.

Sharing culture through storytelling

I made valuable connections to colleagues.

The use of collaboration to educate the world in some way, even small, is meaningful.

Science, like culture, can be taught through pictures

Got to learn about what others do in their discipline

English learning methods

Interdisciplinary education can be approached in many ways, even through something as simple as a (globally) shared problem

Cultural diversity

Please share one or more takeaways from today's session

Making new connections has been amazing!

Learning together. Chinese Picture Books. Listening to different perspectives. Reflecting on stereotypes

I have found a good way to teach english

Confucius institute is willing and able to bring in Chinese picture books and teach about them to my class.

The diversity and interactivity of education,

I'm very excited about the Confucius Institute and The Chinese Picture Book Project

Listening to people around you; we have common cultures than we think

Collaboration towards project based learning is modeled by how lattice participants interact

Lattice is a place where we can be innovative about helping students become more curious about other parts of the world and how there are similarities and differences in the experiences of people who live far apart

We really need to open our horizons

Thank you! I'm a little overwhelmed with starting a new project but always excited for the connections and learning I can take away from LATTICE.
